Just like old times :D

. main ginian nabrak terus anjing. Great game, regardless of if it's free or not... it's just a perfect mix of tower defense, strategy, and RPG elements in an easy to pick-up and play package.

If you ever played a TD, you will generally know how to play this game with the basic un-intrusive tutorial.

If you ever played a Diablo-esque hack-and-slash, you will know how to control the giant troll and activate skills.

The game is simple, yet fun.

Get the game for free, buy the costume pack to support the devs who stuck by their word and decided to give this game away for free to the public, and enjoy a great game that looks perfectly fine even on the lowest settings (like in my case, as I was playing this on a non-gaming laptop as opposed to my built gaming desktop, not really expecting much).

So no, this is NOT a great FREE game... it's just a great game that I got because it was free, and then enjoyed a lot more than what I thought I possibly could.. Pacing? Pacing? What's pacing?. Nice and innovative strategy game. Really a must have if you like strategy and it is really cheap. There also is a demo on kongregate.. Worst game ever. Waste of money.. I'm lovin' it! Best TBS ever!. This is one of my daily VR games. The different events ensure something for everyone. The Sword & Shield and especially Boxing events are some of the most fun I have with my VIVE right now.

The ability to create and manage multiple players is great.

Something about the simplicity and challenge of punching orbs zipping at your face never seems to get old. Or smashing swords and orbs with a sword and shield while arrows rain down from above. Always challenging to top your own best score.

. awesome train wish there was an lirr route and the lirr/metro north m7 train hopefully this game will have it sometime

You get what you pay for and this is true about this DLC its very good. nearly all buttons & switches work, the look & sounds are v\good. sunvisors work, folding tables in pas cabin fold as do pilot arm rests, window screens black out the view, the detail gets better the more you sit in it, such as the yokes has a quartz clock, that actually looks like a quartz clock . a temp gauge on the pilots side panel in F or C.

Plenty of info in the GPS Flight Max modul.

The back lights, on the left and right panels glow as does the overhead panel & throttle quadrant, but the main instrument panel doesn't have any back light tothe dials, but instead a full panel light which lights the whole panel itself. Its a shame as subtle lighting does give a good night time effect. there a few dimmer knobs around but they do nothing.

Ive also noticed that when the engines\vprops are reversed to slow down the plane on landing the sounds are messed up, the props don't sound right. its more of a loud screech\v hiss.

The Map does look cluttered unless you zoom way in, its not one the clearest maps such as the standard FSX GNS 500.

All in all, its was worth the money.

P.s. the set up of the AP GPS V\Spd etc is a little tricky at first. but it all works. As theres is no manual so its really trial and error.

9 out of 10.. SHE IS A THOT. 15 minutes played. 15 minutes too long. This game looks like it took less than that to make. And whoever did the voice-acting should definitely not quit their dayjob. If I had to rate this on a scale of 1-10, I'd rip out my tongue and staple it to the wall.. Even though it's only 99 cents, it's not worth the money. Got this as a joke for my birthday, which was (admittedly) pretty funny. The fun was over after about 5 minutes though, so I wouldn't recommend every seriously buying this game.... I came off the back of Battlefield 3's single player to play this. Both games follow similar patterns using the Single player story to introduce you to all the elements of the multi-player (Sadly defunct). Frontline for me did it so much better and had no terrible quick time events. For its age it still holds up well and tells an entertaining enough Story

Drones where its big thing and these are fun to uses throughout the campaign. It also surprised me to remember they used limited respawns even in the Story, forcing you to use your lives wisely and plan a head where you can or face having to restart the multiple objectives again. Enemy AI on Hardcore is a suitable challenge.

Gun wise only the Assault rifles feel like they have no impact, but everything else feels fine.

In its day the Multiplayer was great fun, you weren't safe anywhere because of the drones. The multi stage maps made it feel like a real battle. The game can be played over a lan if anyone still feels the urge.. Its short, it's simple, but for the price, it's not that worth it.

Buy it at sale price and enjoy the few achievements and short story.. Short but hard 2D shooter with easy achievements.. pretty simple but fun with friends for sure, not bad solo either but it will get repetitive pretty quick. it's just a quick fun twitch kinda game. had a bad day and want to unwind play a couple rounds of this game and defunkify, works for me.

IF ON SALE GET IT, at this time i have 7 hours in it and it was a couple a bucks.. So I'm gonna give you my honest review here: In my opinion, Movie Studio 16 does NOT cut it well for a video editing software. I've been using Movie Studio since 13 came out, and I absolutely fell in love with it back then. Easier to use than Adobe, rendering times were pretty decent, no lagging, etc. I skipped over 14 due to the negative reviews I had been seeing, but jumped straight into 15 when it first launched. Again I fell in love with it for a long time while I was using it and was totally into it for awhile!

Then something happened in 15. I never could figure it out, but I still believe some update they released totally ruined the way it performed on my machine. The preview video became a nuisance to use, video edits lagged like crazy, and it crashed. CONSTANTLY. I was so disappointed because I totally planned to use 15 for as long as I could until the next release, and it totally ruined it. For those interested, here are my current specs I use and have used for awhile now:

i7-4790K 4ghz
16GB Ram DDR4
GTX 1080 11gb Video RAM
Windows 10 Current Build

SOLID STATE EVERYTHING (3 drives, one for games\files, one for OS\major programs, and one for recorded videos)

These current specs work flawlessly with Adobe Premiere. I can edit without issues, no crashing, video preview ACTUALLY previews without lag, and all is well in the world.

FAST FORWARD to Movie Studio 16. I had some hopes that this would be the fix all for the issues I have been having in the past. I bought the platinum version, booted it up, and continued to be hopeful. Upon writing this review I put a total of 6 hours into the program, and about 5 of those hours were me trying to figure out why I couldn't even render the welcome video that is graciously provided for by the developers. 40 seconds of video, and it freezes at complete random intervals while rendering (5%, 16%, 29%, and the farthest I managed to get was 72%). If it doesn't freeze, then it just completely crashes and I cannot do anything with it. I then tried to make my own 5 minute video to see the results of that, and low and behold the same thing occurred! I can't even render a simple 5 minute video, with light editing at 720p 30fps, something that premiere would've finished in a heartbeat. WHAT IS GOING ON HERE?!?!?

Developers, I really really really really want to like this software like I did back when Movie Studio 13 came out. I really do. But if I can't manage to get past the simple rendering issues I am having then how can I make my YouTube videos the way I want? I have gone through everything, even as far as just doing a complete hard drive wipe of all Movie Studio settings and starting from a fresh system. Nothing has prevailed, so I'm calling it quits with it. I don't really want to use Premiere, but the one thing it has going for me is that it actually works, so until a better cheaper alternative is introduced to me, I'm sticking with it.

Rereading this review saddens me greatly. I have always loved Movie Studio and Sony Vegas Pro. But this... Just no.

Unfortunately because I have exceeded the 2 hours of playtime, I cannot refund this. So this will be the last time I am burned by Movie Studio.. I loved Momento Temporis and will replay it. A UNIQUE and creative Metroidvania that doesn't hold your hand and rewards exploration and the discovery of secret rooms. I got the same kind of "I want to explore this new world" feeling I did when I started playing ESA (Environmental Station Alpha). It will have future areas unlocked, but the price is right for the amount of content you get now. I don't agree with the negative reviews regarding this topic at all. The developer fixed a bug I reported faster than anyone else ever has for me so clearly he is still supporting and developing. He also answered other questions I had very promptly. Not a single negative in my opinion.
